Mantas and Full Moons - "On Assignment" Tobago

June 6-13th 2009

True, authentic, exhilarating adventure. There are fewer and fewer untrammelled corners of our globe to discover. So, here's your chance to join Sport Diver magazine as we search for the true pulse and heart of the authentic island of Tobago. We're taking a select group of divers to one of Caribbean's last frontiers on assignment. Here's your chance to live the dream and strut your stuff alongside Sport Diver's award winning editor, Ty Sawyer, and world famous, Emmy Award winning topside and underwater photographer, Michael Pitts www.michaelpitts.co.uk (BBC - Blue Planet, Private Life of Plants). You will be guided by the experts with special instruction and presentations along with some great prizes for best photographs along the way. Whether you're a budding journalist or the next famous underwater photographer, This is your opportunity to have your stories and/or photographs published in Sport Diver Magazine!

Join us as we search for everything from Mantas and hammerheads, to hummingbirds and mythical forest dwellers. The underwater action will be fast and furious as we indulge in Tobago's thrilling drift diving, and the vibe between dives will be the pure essence of old-school Caribbean. Don't miss this opportunity of a lifetime to not only live the dream, but also explore one of the earth's true natural paradises. We are only taking 18 Divers, so sign up now to reserve your spot!
